

Ann Cantrell

Ann Cantrell is an entrepreneur and academic who owns a modern general store in Brooklyn, NY (Annie's Blue Ribbon General Store in Park Slope) and teaches full time in the Fashion Business Management Department at the Fashion Institute of Technology. She is an advocate for small, independent businesses, often being highlighted through American Express's Small Business Saturday program, and has been interviewed for publications including The New York Times, USA Today, Forbes, BBC World News, NBC News, MSNBC, ABC Nightly News, and Associated Press. She has an MBA with a concentration in Sustainability and is a big proponent of the triple bottom line in all facets of business. She lives in Brooklyn.